

Kevlar® | Nomex® | Tyvek®

March 2020

DuPont Safety enacts preparedness plan

To our valued customers:

Like much of the world, DuPont is actively monitoring the recent global pandemic outbreak of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19). As you know, the extraordinary measures that are being taken to contain the spread of this virus are having a significant impact on people and businesses across the globe.

With this in mind, we are complying with the guidance from national and local authorities. We recognize the importance of supply reliability to our customers and we have our global supply network monitoring the situation on a daily basis.

We are in constant communication with our plant sites and suppliers. We are assessing all possible impacts and risks to all our manufacturing sites and raw material sources, as well as the impacts this may have on our global supply network. Currently, all DuPont Safety production facilities are operating as planned.

Consistent with our core values, DuPont is also actively managing the effects this pandemic may have on our people and locations through the activation of both corporate and local crisis management teams. We have issued guidance to employees about travel, as well as other precautions to help ensure they stay healthy. In addition, DuPont has implemented certain safety and health protocols to protect all workers and visitors to our sites from potential exposure to the virus.

Our thoughts and concern go out to those directly impacted by the virus and to first responders. This is an unsettling time for all of us. Our teams are striving every day to deliver the needed supply to the healthcare industry with DuPont Personal Protective garments and DuPont™ Tyvek® medical packaging. This is what we do and we're proud to support the dedicated healthcare workers on the frontlines.

As always, we appreciate your business. If you have specific questions, please contact your account manager.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "John Richard".

John Richard
Global Vice President & General Manager
DuPont Safety